

Arnaldo Walter

Arnaldo Walter is an Associated Professor at University of Campinas and former Director of the Sustainability Research Program/ Brazilian Bioethanol Science and Technology Lab. A Mechanical Engineer by training, he holds an MSc in Mechanical Engineering and a PhD in Energy Planning. He has developed research activities at the NREL-US, at King's College-UK, and at KTH, Sweden. He has also taught in countries like Peru, Colombia and Suécia.